WOMAN TERRIBLY BURNED

May Edgar Suffers an Accident That Will Probably Prove Fatal.

Bottle of Gasoline Explodes, Setting Her Clothing on Fire and Burning It from Her Body-Sight Destroyed.

May Edgar, a well-known woman, living on Market street, near New Jersey, is at the point of death from terrible burns she received early Sunday morning. The skin is almost entirely burned from her body, and the attending physicians say it is impossible for her to recover. She was standing in front of a gas jet at the time of the accident, clad in a light silk garment. On her dresser was a bottle of gasoline that she had used in cleaning white slippers. She carelessly picked up the bottle and opened it to see if it was empty. Some of the stuff was probably dropped on her dress, for in an instant she was in flames from head to feet. Her agony was intense, and her screams were heard all over the

A woman rushed to the police station to summon a physician, but by the time a doctor reached the house, the skin was peeling from the unfortunate woman's body. She was put under the effects of opiates, which have been constantly used since to relieve her of the exeruciating pain. Another peculiar feature adds to her dangerous condition. For a week she has been suffering with rheumatism and had used an alchoholic massage treatment, which rendered her skin more liable to the dangers of the flames. Her eyesight will probably be destroyed, as the flames penetrated under the hids and also into

The injured woman came to Indianapolis from Coldwater, Mich., a few years ago. Her parents died when she was quite young, leaving her a considerable sum of money. She was born in Germany, leaving for America with her parents at an early age. On the way across the ocean, her father died and was buried at se mother died a short time afterwards, and she was raised by relatives in Michigan. She had been married Haughville Saloon Keepers Meet for Revenge Upon the Good People.

Will Close Up Everything if the Screen Ordinance Stands - West Indianapolis Board-To Open Kentucky Avenue.

WEST INDIANAPOLIS BOARD, Mr. McCarty to Open Kentucky Avenue to the Bridge-Finances of the Town. Last night was the trustees' "busy day" in West Indianapolis. The meeting of the board opened early and continued late. One of the first matters to come before it was the opening of a way to the new bridge over White river which the County Commissioners have located at the Kentucky avenue site. The locating of the bridge at this point necessitated the opening of a street to connect with it on the west side of the and the property through which this street would have to pass is owned by Nicholas McCarty. There was submitted to the board a communication from Mr. McCarty, in which he offered to dedicate to the use of the public, for street purposes, a strip of ground for an eighty foot street running from Drover street to the bridge, a distance of about 1,500 feet. He also proposed to dedicate to the use of the public a sixty foot street to continue Woodburn avenue from Drover street to Kentucky avenue. Both propositions were accepted by the board by a unanimous vote.

The bill of the water company for the past quarter, amounting to $337.50, and of the electric light company for $450 for the same quarter, were allowed; the former payable July 15 and the latter Aug. 15, both bearing 6 per cent. interest. The bill of Marshal Maholm for $107 for work upon the streets for the past week was allowed. the streets for the past week was allowed, as were also several smaller bills.

The committee appointed to audit the clerk's and treasurer's books reported the results of their investigations to the board. In auditing the clerk's books they found that the total indebtedness of the town on May 6, 1893, was $20,850. They also found several discrepancies between the warrants and stubs and the minute book as to amounts allowed. In some cases the warrants showed that greater amount had been paid than was noted on the minute book, and in some cases no warrants could be found for amounts that had been allowed according to the minute book. The amount in each case, however, was small, and in no case did it amount to more than $1.50. The auditing of the treasurer's books showed total receipts from all sources $36,104.24 and total expenditures $36,121.45, making an overdraft of $17.21. The report of receipts and expenditures was as follows: Receipts from corporation fund, $18,701.89; expenditures from same fund, $17,322,96; road fund receipts, $2,041.48; expenditures from same fund, $1,603.49; receipts from school fund, $14,074.14; expenditures from same fund, $14,855.40; overdrawn, $780.86; receipts sinking fund, $1,216.35; expenditures from same fund, $2,360; overdrawn, $1,123.65; receipts dog tax, $70.38.

HAUGHVILLE SALOON KEEPERS.

Cogitating Plans of Revenge for the Screen Ordinance.

The saloon keepers of Haughville are Mrs. John Carlisle and daughter, Miss preparing for a retaliation upon the merchants of the suburb who were instrumental in securing the passage of the obnoxious screen ordinance. There was secret meeting in the western suburb last night of eleven of the twelve saloon keepers in business there. "Jimmy" McBride presided over the meeting, and there was present an attorney from this city, who has been engaged by the saloon keepers as advisory counsel. The saloon keepers say they do not object to closing their places of business at 11 o'clock during the week, but if they are to be compelled to keep closed doors on Sunday, they propose to have the Sunday law enforced against everybody, including grocers, which takes in Trustee Hungate, and the proprietors of bath houses, which brings in the Town Marshal. The saloon men say if the screen ordinance remains and is enforced, they will prosecute, under the general State laws, every grocer who sells any merchandise on Sunday, every druggist who sells whisky, and will inquire into the right of every physician to give prescriptions for whisky. In this line they will inquire into the physician's right to practice, whether he has complied with all the laws of the State regulating the practice of medicine. The town marshal was called into the meeting and told of what they had resolved to do, but he had nothing to say. A committee of three was appointed to wait upon the trustees to-night and ascertain what they intend to do. The saloon men say they have determined to fight for gore if fight they must, and will raise a fund by assessment on themselves with which to defray all expenses and employ

TO BE OPEN EVERY NIGHT

World's Fair Officials Finally Heed the Clamor of the People of Chicago.

Physicians Kept Busy Yesterday Attending to Visitors Prostrated by Heat-Sunday Admission Price to Remain at 50 Cents.

CHICAGO, June 19 .- Without fear, apparently, of being affected by the scorching heat, thousands of people came to see the exposition to-day, the paid admissions being 82,146. A score of people had to be removed to the emergency hospital on account of exhaustion caused by the heat of the sun. Physicians and nurses at the hospital on the grounds were busily engaged ministering to the sick. There were, fortunately, no cases of sunstroke, and all the patients at the hospital were able to proceed to their hotels, homes or boarding houses before the gates closed. Many thousands of seats have been provided for visitors in convenient places, affording necessary rest and seelusion from the sun. While the band concerts were being given on the plaza in front of Administration Building, thousands of persons filled the semi-circle of benches to enjoy the shade and listen to the music. The picture presented by the array of summer dresses and bright-colored parasols was pretty in the extreme.

The council of administration decided to-day to keep the fair open every night until 11 o'clock. Heretofore the gates have been open to visitors only on Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights, which have been known as special nights at the fair, some special feature being prepared for each evening. There has been such a clamor, especially among Chicago people, that the council of administration, respending to the force brought to bear, held a special session to consider this matter. It was the general sense of the council that this concession be made to the public, and a resolution to this effect was adopted. Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights, however, will continue to be known as special nights, and entertaining features will be devised for the crowds who attend on these even-ings. The people of Chicago naturally expect to profit most by this new departure, as aside from Sunday and the nights on which the fair has heretofore been open. business men, clerks and working people in general have had no opportunity of seeing the sights at Jackson Park. The railroad, car lines and boat lines will make a special effort to get the people to and from the fair in the shortest possible time, so as to make the trip as easy and pleasant as possible.

The committee on ceremonies has prepared a programme for the observance of the Fourth of July at the White City. The military and civic organizations of the city will be invited to parade through the grounds and take part in the ceremonies. Gen. Nelson A. Miles wil be requested to furnish a battery of artillery to fire the salutes at sunrise. At 10 o'clock in the forenoon there will be an international parade, in which all the foreign nations having exhibits at the lair will be requested to participate. The denizens of the Midway Plaisance will also be in line. The Declaration of Independence will be read at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at half a dozen different points in the grounds. In the evening there will be a grand electric display and the grand-est display of fireworks the fair has yet had. During the day the chimes of bells in the towers of Machinery Hall and in the German government building will be rung at frequent intervals.

August St. Gaudens's statue of Colum bus is now in place under the balcony at the east front of the Administration Building. All that remains to be done is to patch a few breaks in the plaster that were made in the transportation.

The Methodiet and other church societies which threaten to remove their exhibits from the liberal arts section because the exposition is to be kept open Sundays will find themselves balked. The director-general will inform them, as he has other exhibitors who wanted to take out their displays, that the goods were entered for the period of the fair, and that they must remain till the fair is over.

Prof. Hiram A. Gooch, principal of the Intercollegiate Prepara tory School of the Chicago University, will on Wednesday open a summer school for the practical study of the exposition. The enterprise has received the sauction of the officials. and Prof. Gooch will be assisted by a competent corps of assistants. One-hour lectures will be given the class, after which the teachers will go with the pupils for a practical observation of the exhibits. The study of electricity will be taken up first.

The officials of the fair do not favor reducing the price of admission on Sunday to 25 cents. It has been urged by many that, inasmuch as quite a number of exhibits are closed or covered on Sunday, the admission price should be reduced. A number of the commissioners favor this plan, but the officials are very violently opposed to it. President Higinbotham said to-day he did not think the price should be reduced, as it would have a tendency to attract a great noisy crowd on the Sabbath. and this the officials desired to avoid. He stated that the exposition is worth 50 cents to any person on any day. There will be religious exercises, sacred music and all else that is calculated to make Sunday what it

The California building was formally opened to-day. Governor Markham accepted the keys and declared the building from Hon, M. H. De Young and others.

Tribute to Architect Hunt. LONDON, June 19 .- Richard M. Hunt, of New York, received at the Royal Institute of British Architects to-day the Queen's gold medal. This distinction was conferred upon him in view of his work at the world's fair in Chicago. In presenting the medal, President Anderson, of the institute, said that Mr. Hunt was the first American whose name had been inscribed on the institute's illustrious roll of honor. After alluding to the pleasure he felt in honoring the designer of the buildings at the world's fair, President Anderson con-

These buildings are the most wonderful development to which international exhibitions have attained or are likely to attain in the future. We rejoice in the opportunity which this fact affords us to pay a graceful tribute to the United States. In America there are boundless resources and illimitable wealth. These are the conditions favorable to the progress of architecture. Other conditions in America are less favorable to this progress, and in view of them we are especially pleased that the development of American architecture is now inspired by a man of Mr. Hunt's cosmopolitan experience and refined

Another Sunday Closing Suit. CHICAGO, June 19 .- Hon. Green B. Raum and attorney Cleland, representing the firm of Wanamaker & Brown, which has filed a bill asking that the world's fair be closed on Sundays, hunted around the government building most of the morning trying to find a United States circuit juage to set a date for a hearing of their case. They were unsuccessful, so the matter went over until to-morrow. Edwin Walker, counsel for the exposition, who had been cited to be on hand. was rather disposed to make light of the whole thing. He said that for the life of him he could not see how a single one of the 30,000 stockholders could maintain such an action against its own directors, and, besides, that Wanamaker & Brown is a New Jersey corporation, and as such is not entitled to hold stock

It was the second appearance of the young man before Hizzonner on the same charge within a few days, and he was inclined to be severe with the Hendricks county youth till a prominent attorney inter-ceeded in behalf of the prisoner. Judge Buskirk told the attorney if he would ob-ligate himself to see that the young man returned to his parents in Hendricks county he would release him under commit-

John Walker, a young boy living at 336 West Court street, lost his left hand yesterday in a peculiar manner. He was playing near the Arcade mills, and, while passing an open freight car on a switch near by, some one cried to him to shut the door on the car. The boy did so, but in closing the door his hand was caught and badly lacerated. It necessitated an amputation, Dr. Eisenbeiss performing the operation.

C. F. R. WAPPENHANS, Local Forecast Official. Hot Water for Drinking. Brooklyn Citizen.

"There are many persons who insist that it is impossible for them to drink hot water, and make all sorts of disagreeable faces about it," says an enthusiast of hygiene. "I have heard a great many people say this, and for a long time I could not understand it. One day I dropped in upon one of my friends, and found her very ill. I made up my mind that a little hot water would be beneficial, and ran down to the kitchen to get it. While pouring out a glass for her it occurred to me that it was a good opportunity to in-dulge in a bit of it myself, so I poured a dulge in a bit of it myself, so I poured a eased. After each brushing they gitter like second glass, and after it was cool enough I pearls, and the gums grow rosy red.

attempted to drink it. I didn't wonder that she had said she could not drink hos water, for such a nanseous-tasting Bless think I never tried to swallow; in fact, I just absolutely couldn't do. it, and had to give it up. I hardly knew what to say to her when she, upon tasting, declared she couldn't take it to save her life. I could imagine nothing but dish-water in the taste of that inquid. Whether the maids were careless about their cooking utensils or what the difficulty was I couldn't teil. I have experienced the same annoyance in hotels and other places. The water has a greasy, stale, intolerable flavor, and even the smell of it might, I should think, make a well person sick. I have a special little kettle for my hot water and take the greatest pains that nothing that will give it a disagreeable taste is ever allowed near it. When it is prepared it is as bright, and clean, and refreshing as the purest spring water. Ever since my little experience at my friend's bouse I have had no difficulty in accounting for the dislike of many persons for hot water,
